BUILD YOUR CAREER AT CITY OF OXFORD COLLEGE

If you are looking to build a career in the construction, engineering or motor vehicle industry then City of Oxford College can help kick-start you on the road to success.

In September, we are excited to be opening the Oxfordshire Centre for Technology, Innovation and Skills, an £8m, employer-backed centre that will be the new home for engineering.

Students will have the opportunity to work on live projects led by leading construction employers, such as Skanska, Beard and Laing O' Rourke.

February saw the completion of the first live project backed by Skanska, in which students had the opportunity to produce designs for a new roundabout in Harwell.

Student Jonathan Stimpson (Construction and the Built Environment Level 3) commented:

THE PROJECT WAS VERY BENEFICIAL BECAUSE IT CONTRIBUTED TOWARDS A VAST AMOUNT OF ASSIGNMENTS WE HAVE BEEN WORKING ON THIS YEAR. IT WAS GREAT TO WORK AS PART OF A TEAM AND UTILISE OTHER PEOPLE'S STRENGTHS TO WORK TOWARDS COMPLETION OF THE PROJECT.”

Former brickwork student building a great career

Just over two years ago, John Vinner was one of many young people starting a career in what he loves best – but struggling financially. Now he is making a good living thanks to a successful career in the construction industry, going on holiday abroad twice a year and enjoying a comfortable lifestyle.

EVERYTHING I LEARNT AT COLLEGE HAS HELPED ME TO GET WHERE I AM NOW: BUILDING CORNERS, PUNCTUALITY, SHOWING RESPECT TO OTHERS. THE BLOCK RELEASE AT THE COURSE WORKED REALLY WELL FOR ME. YOU HAD A GOOD CHUNK AT WORK AND THEN TIME LEARNING THINGS IN THE WORKSHOP. WITHOUT COLLEGE, I WOULDN'T HAVE MY JOB, WITH GOOD PAY AND GREAT PROSPECTS.”

at the Blackbird Leys campus of City of Oxford College

If you have a keen interest in starting a career in engineering, construction or building services, then City of Oxford College can help you.

Courses include:

- » Brickwork trowel trades
- » Carpentry and joinery
- » Construction
- » Electrical installation
- » Engineering
- » Joinery
- » Motor vehicle
- » Plumbing

CATASTROPHIC COLLAPSE

• The remains of Didcot A Power Station's main building

AFTER the ash and smoke cleared, the building's bare bones sitting in a devastation of fallen rubble was laid out for the world to see.

And the search for three missing workers in 30ft of debris at Didcot A Power Station continues.

With one worker confirmed dead and five others injured, search and rescue teams from across the UK merged to try and make the building safe and find the missing.

It was at 4.04pm on Tuesday when almost half of the main boiler room building collapsed and sent up a cloud of smoke. In total 47 people were treated for dust inhalation.

Sniffer dogs, thermal imaging cameras, a drone as well as army robots were scouring the site to look for the lost men overnight and throughout yesterday.

Speculation about whether an explosion triggered the collapse has halted for an investigation to begin.

The site was mid-way through being dismantled after Didcot A Power Station shut down in March 2013, and the building was due to be blown-down in 10 days.

The power station and its cooling towers had been a visible comfort to many who live here. However this tragedy will forever cast a shadow.

Search for missing three goes on at Power Station

By Loughlan Campbell

The families of three workers missing in the rubble of Didcot A Power Station's collapsed building visited the site yesterday, as rescue workers said they fear they are 'unlikely to be alive'.

One demolition worker was killed after almost half of the 10-storey, 300m-long building buckled to the ground just after 4pm on Tuesday.

Five other men were taken to Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital with serious but non-life threatening injuries, while 47 others were treated for dust inhalation.

Simon Furlong, assistant chief fire officer at Oxfordshire County Council Fire and Rescue Service said yesterday: "There are no clear signs of life. We have not had any positive signs at the present time."

"We haven't moved any of the material as it is unsafe to move anything at the moment."

The man who died has been named on social media as Mick Collings, known as 'Whitby Mick'.

About 100 firefighters from across the UK including as far away as Merseyside were on hand to search for the missing workers overnight and yesterday.

David Cooke, whose office overlooks the site, saw the building collapse.

He told the Guardian: "The first thought I had was 'I hope no one is under there'."

"We just saw that main block coming down blowing out a huge cloud of dust. It wasn't an explosion. Then the whole power station was obscured by the dust."

Experts from Cheshire were at the site yesterday to advise on the search for the missing three.

Sniffer dogs, thermal imaging cameras and two drones were being used yesterday to try and trace signs of life.

Oxfordshire's chief fire officer David Etheridge added: "We are working on the principle that the second [section of the] building could collapse at any time."

Of the men injured in hospital, one was discharged on Tuesday night, three were discharged yesterday, and one was still being treated in hospital.

Nathan Travis, deputy chief fire officer warned the search 'could last days'.

South Central Ambulance Service declared the collapse a 'major incident'.

Flowers were left at the scene yesterday, alongside a tribute which read: "Rest in Peace to a hardworking soul from a Didcot resident. Thoughts for those injured and those missing."

A controlled explosion to demolish the building had been planned for next month.

RWE Npower, which owns the site, said demolition contractors Coleman and Company had been working with them to decommission the site.

A spokesperson said: "We can confirm that part of the boiler house collapsed while an external demolition contractor was working on it. Our thoughts are with the families of those involved in this tragedy."

Didcot A Power Station, which was gas and coal-fired, shut down in 2013 and is mid-way through being decommissioned. Neighbouring Didcot B Power Station, which is coal-fired, is still running.

Family support charity could be forced to shut

A DIDCOT charity which supports vulnerable or isolated families risks closing next month if it cannot find the funds to keep running.

Founder of The Balsam Family Project, Alex Walker, said the charity is struggling to cope with the rising number of families which come to support workers for help.

But it has to raise £25,000 by March 7 to stay open for another six months.

The Balsam Family Project was started seven years ago by Mrs Walker, a Didcot mum-of-two.

It supports struggling families by running 10-week college courses for parents, weekly meetings, and social events.

By Loughlan Campbell

Mrs Walker told the Guardian she fears the charity's workload will only get harder amid council cuts and plans to shut most of Oxfordshire's children's centres.

She said: "These cuts are going to make things very hard for us, as families need a place to provide that support and with the centres set to go, more and more people are coming to us."

"Some families come to us who may be desperate, lonely, or suffering from depression and we help them get back on their feet."

The charity has a base in Harwell but holds its college courses twice weekly in a room in Didcot Methodist Church in Broadway.

When the charity launched in 2009 it supported seven people, but now has 72 on its books.

The charity has managed to raise £15,341.33 so far after being handed a grant of £4341.33 from Didcot Town Council on Monday.

Mrs Walker added: "We've previously never gone to local government to get funding as we tend to rely on donations from groups and businesses in the Didcot area, such as from the Didcot Rotary Club and also Soha Housing.

"If we can't raise this money we won't be able to keep the charity going and that would be a tragedy."

Kat Ryan, who signed up to the project to spend more time with her son, JJ, said: "Before I came here, I was selfish, but then I came to family day as I wanted to mix with other parents and allow my son to mix with other children."

"Balsam helped me with my family, my relationships with my partner and son, there's just so many positive things I can say about the charity."

Oxfordshire County Council voted through this year's budget at a meeting at County Hall last Tuesday that could see 44 children centres and seven early interventions hubs closed.

Didcot has three children's centres under threat - Didcot Ladygrove children's centre in Tamar Way, South Didcot children's centre in Hillary Drive and Stephen Freeman children's centre in Freeman Road.

Mayor of Didcot Des Healy, attended the charity's Christmas last year. He said: "These cuts to centres are alarming and I know Balsam are trying to do as much as they can. I wish the charity all the best."

News Bites

Road closure

DIDCOT: A busy Didcot road is set to close for five days whilst a new manhole is installed next week.

A traffic regulation notice from Oxfordshire County Council will also include a 'no waiting restriction' for Mereland Road off the Broadway whilst the work is carried out from Monday to Friday.

Limited access will be provided for emergency vehicles whilst the work is carried out.

Clarification

DIDCOT: In last week's February 18 edition, in which the Guardian ran an article about the possibility of Didcot getting a 'splash park', South Oxfordshire district councillor Tony Harbour was quoted in the piece.

He has asked us to clarify that the views expressed were his own and not those of South Oxfordshire District Council.

Pavilion plans

DIDCOT: Designs for a new sports pavilion to be built in Edmonds Park have been unveiled.

The drawings have been made public on the town council website as a consultation on the plans was opened last week.

The idea was previously raised at a town council's finance and general purposes committee last November.

Residents can fill out an only survey at didcot.gov.uk

Mayor calls for town unity as 'another tragedy' hits Didcot

MAYOR of Didcot Des Healy has called for the town to offer their thoughts or prayers to the families of the missing and killed construction workers in the Didcot A Power Station collapse.

Cllr Healy, who worked at the power station himself from 1972 to 1999, called the disaster 'another tragedy' for Didcot in a tribute to the Oxfordshire Guardian.

He said: "I would like to express my sincerest thoughts to the families and loved ones of the worker who died and for those that are anxiously waiting by the phone and watching television for news on those missing."

"The town must come together now to pray and offer their thoughts to those affected."

"We must never give up hope."

"Another tragedy has befallen Didcot."

Didcot's MP Ed Vaizey posted on Twitter: "Awful events at Didcot. Our emergency services in Oxon have been outstanding. Thank you."

"Thoughts with family of man tragically killed, and those waiting for news of three missing."

South Oxfordshire District Council leader John Cotton also made a statement, stating: "Deepest sympathy for family with loss at Didcot Power Station. Tough night for families of injured and unaccounted for. Hoping for the best."

Ian Hudspeth, Oxfordshire County Council leader said: "My thoughts are with all those affected by the incident at Didcot Power Station. Thank you to all the emergency services for quick response."

The Battle of Brussels

Where do Oxfordshire leaders stand on the EU?

THE British public will now to go the ballot boxes to decide on the country's membership of the European Union (EU) after marathon discussions in the Belgian capital over the weekend saw Prime Minister David Cameron renegotiate a deal with Europe's leaders.

Mr Cameron, who is MP for Witney, announced on Saturday a referendum will now be held on Thursday, June 23 on whether Britain should leave the 28-nation union.

The announcement has caused a major rift between in the Conservative Government as cabinet ministers announce which side they will be campaigning for over the coming months.

Speaking outside Downing Street Mr Cameron said: "Last night in Brussels I set out Britain's new settlement with the European Union."

"We are approaching one of the biggest decisions this country will face in our lifetimes: Whether to remain in a reformed European Union – or to leave."

"I am the first to say that there are still many ways in which Europe needs to improve – and that the task of reforming Europe does not end with yesterday's agreement."

After promising an EU referendum ahead of General Election in May 2015 Mr Cameron travelled to Brussels last Thursday to meet with leaders of member states to renegotiate the terms of Britain's membership.

Talks with heads of states, including German chancellor Angela Merkel and French president Francois Hollande, lasted through to Saturday morning when Mr Cameron announced an agreement had been reached. The Prime Minister had four key areas to debate with the EU: financial protection, European competitiveness, migration and powers for UK parliament.

By Alex Ballinger

A new agreement now means EU migrants will have to wait four years before accessing full benefits, however this 'emergency break' will only last for seven years.

Britain is also no longer committed to the European Union's philosophy of 'ever closer union' with the new agreement stating: "The treaty references to ever closer union do not apply to the United Kingdom."

The referendum announcement has already caused conflict within Government as some of Mr Cameron's allies have announced they will campaign against the Prime Minister.

Justice Secretary and close friend of Mr Cameron, Michael Gove, has back the 'Out' campaign along with Conservative London Mayoral candidate Zac Goldsmith.

Former MP for Henley and London Mayor Boris Johnson also announced on Sunday evening he would be campaigning to leave Europe.

Despite division in his party Mr Cameron told the Sunday Times last week he would not resign as Prime Minister if Britain leaves the EU.

Oxfordshire county and Oxford city councillor John Tanner (Lab) has criticised the new deal, calling it a 'pantomime'.

He said: "Britain belongs in the European Union. David Cameron's pantomime in Brussels changes very little."

WITNEY MP AND PRIME MINISTER DAVID CAMERON

(CON): "I believe Britain will be stronger in a reformed Europe because we can play a leading role in one of the world's largest organisations from within."

OXFORD WEST AND ABINGDON MP NICOLA BLACKWOOD

(CON): "I back IN for jobs & security but I'll fight with @reformineurope for a responsive reforming EU."

OXFORD EAST MP ANDREW SMITH

(LAB): "I support the Labour campaign for Britain to remain in the EU; to leave would be a leap in the dark, and Britain would still have to abide by EU regulations if we wanted to stay in the single market."

WANTAGE MP ED VAIZEY

(CON): "I firmly believe that the United Kingdom will be stronger, safer and better off by remaining in a reformed European Union."

HENLEY MP JOHN HOWELL

(CON): "The UK is far stronger as part of the EU and that it is from within the EU that we can have the greatest influence on the world stage."

BANBURY MP VICTORIA PRENTIS

(CON): "It is clear that there is a strong appetite for reforming our relationship with Europe. Europe is a vital trading partner for our country, and it is in our interests to ensure it remains stable and prosperous."

SOUTH EAST MEP NIGEL FARAGE

(UKIP): "This referendum is our golden opportunity for the UK to leave the European Union and once again become a self-governing, independent nation that makes its own laws, negotiate its own global trade deals and controls its own borders."

SOUTH EAST MEP KEITH TAYLOR

(GREEN): "I will be campaigning for the UK to remain a member of the European Union, because I believe that by working together we can better face the challenges of the twenty first century – from climate change to the refugee crisis."

SOUTH EAST MEP CATHERINE BEARDER

(LIB DEM): "Together in Europe, Britain is stronger, more prosperous and secure. So join us today in this once in a generation fight, to remain in together and stand up for a Britain we can be proud to hand on to future generations."

Man caught poaching in Oxfordshire

A 44-YEAR-OLD man has been fined and had possessions seized after he was caught poaching animals in Oxfordshire.

Colwin Price, of Greenway Road in Cardiff, Wales, pleaded guilty at Oxford Magistrates' Court on January 29 for trespassing with the intention of pursuing game.

On December 1 last year Price was found by police in a field at Stallpitts Farm in Shrivenham carrying a dead rabbit, accompanied by a Lurcher-type dog, which are typically used in coursing.

When questioned by the officers Price said: "I was just catching a rabbit."

PC Lucy Fleming, of the rural crime team based in Didcot, said: "This is a good result as this type of offence is a priority for the area and is in the public interest to prosecute."

Price was fined £155 and had the equipment he had at the time of the offence seized, including lamping equipment and battery packs.

Poaching has been identified as a priority of the Thames Valley Police's rural crime partnership alongside crime and agricultural machinery theft.

School in special measures

CHIPPING Norton School has been put in special measures after a damning report by Ofsted.

Inspectors rated leadership and management of the school, teaching and the outcome for pupils all as inadequate.

While the report said "personal development, behaviour and welfare" required improvement, it rated the 16 to 19 study programme as "good".

It came after the school, which converted to an academy, was inspected by Ofsted in December.

Previously the 1,034-student secondary school was rated good.

In a letter to parents headteacher Simon Duffy pledged to lead the school out of special measures.

By Jayne Smith

He said since the inspection the school had developed a "rigorous action plan" to address concerns raised by inspectors, which includes improving attendance rates, teaching, and setting high expectations for students' work and behaviour.

Mr Duffy said: "I want to reassure you of my ongoing commitment to preserve the outstanding aspects of learning at Chipping Norton School, and to work tirelessly to improve standards, address areas of weakness and build on our strengths."

The school has held meetings with parents to discuss how the school plan to "raise achievement".

The Ofsted report raised concerns that disadvantaged pupils made "significantly less progress" and their progress was not reviewed enough.

It further said disadvantaged pupils and those with disabilities did not attend school regularly.

Referring to outcomes for pupils, the report said: "For too long, the progress made by pupils by the end of Key Stage 4 has been significantly below national averages."

"This poor progress is disguised by pupils achieving examination grades that are broadly in line with national averages, though they have arrived with Key Stage 2 outcomes that are slightly above average."

Inspectors said pupils were "well looked-after" and the majority were happy and felt safe.

Ofsted said the sixth form was "well led" and pupils made good progress.

Separately, Mark Tailby launched a petition saying the grading was "unrepresentative" of the "all round education and care" provided to students and is calling for Ofsted to reconsider its "overall judgement".

So far the petition, on change.org, has attracted 520 signatures.

Inspectors are due back at the school later this year.

Lucky escape as wooden plank swept off building

PART of a Bicester shopping area was sealed off on Sunday after a 10ft long wooden plank was swept from the side of a multi-storey carpark.

An area between Sainsbury's, Vue cinema and restaurant Prezzo, in Pioneer Square, was closed after a piece of the wooden cladding fell from the development in strong winds.

No-one was hurt.

In a statement Sainsbury's said the incident was "caused by unusually severe weather".

Wooden cladding is secured in sections all around the shopping precinct.

A Sainsbury's spokesman said: "Safety is something we always take extremely seriously and we took immediate action to secure the area.

"Engineers have now carried out a full inspection of the building and have confirmed the area is safe. No one was hurt."

Pioneer Square, which is anchored by Sainsbury's supermarket, has a range of shops, restaurants and a cinema. It opened in 2013 as the first phase in a £70m town centre revamp.

Work on the second and final phase is underway and includes a new Cherwell District Council offices, a Travelodge hotel, the town's relocated library, offices shops and restaurants.

It is due to open this Spring.

Plan to widen A34 with extra lanes are an option

AN £800 MILLION plan to widen the A34 in both directions through Oxfordshire is still 'on the table', according to Highways England.

The Government road organisation stated the plan, first floated in November 2014, is still a 'possibility' and that studies into the possibility of building an extra lane each way are being carried out.

It previously came under criticism over fears that homes in Botley and North Hinksey may have to be compulsory purchased and then demolished to secure space to build the extra road near Oxford.

Highways spokesperson Stuart Miller said: "The proposed widening option has not been dropped and is still a possibility."

"Research is currently being undertaken, looking at the roads between the A34 to the M4 and the A34 between the M4 and the M40.

By Loughlan Campbell

"Both are looking at identifying the different issues and challenges of the road and analysing ways of overcoming them."

"At this stage, nothing is off the table."

The Oxfordshire Growth Board previously revealed it could cost about £800m in a report published in November 2014.

Mr Miller also confirmed that a 12.5 mile link road running from the Lodge Hill interchange near Abingdon to the M40 at junction 8 near Wheatley is being considered.

John Cotton, South Oxfordshire District Council leader, said: "The A34 is a massive cause of frustration for residents and if funding can be secured for a project like that then I'm very much in favour of it."

"However, it truly is an incredible sum of money and you have to balance that with whether or not it's really worth it to do that or invest it in other projects."

"The A34 is a challenge and this could be a way to help overcome that."

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said: "Part of the problem is that a lot of the traffic down the road is through traffic heading down towards the coast."

"Which makes it Oxfordshire's problem but it's very much a Highways England problem that they should prioritise."

"However, any disturbance to Botley is something I would be very against, as it would be extremely obtrusive to residents who I can't imagine would warm to the proposals."

Fatal crash appeal

OXON: Police are appealing for witnesses after a pedestrian was struck by a lorry on the A34.

The man died at the scene after he was hit by a silver DAF heavy goods vehicle just after 1am on Saturday, February 20, on the southbound carriageway, near Bletchington.

PC Alan Turnbull appealed for anyone who saw the man before the collision to come forward, including the driver of a dark-coloured Audi vehicle, who stopped at the scene.

Homeless woman's fund returned to the donors

DONATIONS made to a homeless woman who claimed to have foiled a burglary attempt at an Oxford shop has been returned to donors because of 'uncertainty' over the incident.

A fundraising page was set up for Lottie Pauling-Chamberlain last Sunday after she recounted confronting a burglar who left Lush cosmetics shop in Cornmarket Street with a laptop and more than £1,000 worth of goods.

But the page has since been suspended and the money returned to donors after Ms Pauling-Chamberlain was arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to commit burglary and suspicion of possession of Class A drugs.

Ms Pauling-Chamberlain denies any wrongdoing.

A statement from Lush said: "Due to the current uncertainty surrounding the recent burglary in our Lush Oxford shop, Lush have decided to return all of the money that has been kindly donated by the public and replace it with £20,000 of our own money."

"We intend to share this money among the following local homeless charities that work with people in need within the Oxfordshire area, and can be accessed by Lottie and others who find themselves living on the streets."

Lush has now donated the money to Oxford Homeless Pathways, the Icolyn Smith Foundation/Oxford Community Soup Kitchen, Oxford Homeless Project and Aspire Oxford.

A 42-year-old man, of no fixed abode, was also arrested on suspicion of burglary and both have been bailed until May 14.

Children's centres to close in September?

By Alex Ballinger

THE first closures of Oxfordshire's children's centres could begin in September, a council boss confirmed this week.

Melinda Tilley, the cabinet member for children, families and education at Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) told the Guardian the centres are funded until September this year, meaning the closures would begin after that.

The council's cabinet met at County Hall in New Road, Oxford, on Tuesday to discuss the future of the centres despite a legal challenge issued by lawyers on behalf of a Save Oxfordshire's Children's Centres campaigner.

Councillor Tilley said: "We know how highly people value the current range of services and we are truly sorry to have to reduce these services."

"The desire to defend existing arrangements has been clearly articulated throughout the consultation. We understand the sentiment."

"The reality is that current financial pressures and rising demand – never mind future savings – would mean having to redesign the services at this very point in time."

When asked when the closures would be Cllr Tilley said the services are funded up until September, which mean no closures would happen before then.

The council is proposing closing the county's 44 children's centres and seven early intervention hubs to replace them with eight larger 'children and family centres'.

The reorganised service will cost £12 million a year, cutting £6m from the council's budget.

OCC received a letter from the Central England Law Centre, dated Monday February 22, which called the reorganisation 'fundamentally flawed'.

The letter was sent on behalf of the four-year-old son of a prominent children's centres campaigner, Jill Huish.

The letter, signed by Karen Ashton, said: "We have been consulted by Ms Jill Huish on behalf of her son."

"We are of the view that the council's approach to the radical reorganisation of these services is fundamentally flawed.

"If any of the proposed models are adopted (and we believe that it is intended that this decision will be taken by the Cabinet on February 23 2016) that decision would be challengeable by way of judicial review."

A judicial review is a process where a court reviews a decision by a public body, like OCC, and can overturn it.

The letter says the council failed to consult with the public and the new service would not be available to all.

But OCC opted to continue with discussions on the advice of OCC's chief legal officer Nick Graham.

Cllr Tilley said: "This is not about children's centres, it's about £6m of savings we already committed to save."

"This meeting is about the £6m in last years budget that we need to save."

OCC set aside £2m on February 16 to invest in children's centres but Cllr Tilley said it would be months before a decision could be made on how it will be spent.

Hollywood actor live streams from an Oxford lift in art show

A-LIST star Shia LaBeouf streamed himself spending 24 hours in a lift in Oxford last week as part of an art show ahead of a talk at the Oxford Union on Friday.

The Transformers and Indiana Jones actor started the bizarre stunt at 9am Friday morning in Gloucester Green as part of an art exhibition, alongside artists Nastja Ronkko from Finland and Luke Turner from Manchester.

#Elevate, as the project is known, saw the trio meeting members of the public while a camera live-streamed the day through Youtube.

LaBeouf appeared at the Oxford Union in 8pm Friday evening before returning to the lift until 9am the following morning.

The live-stream was also broadcast free in the union's debating chamber for the public to view.

Sally Lane, 53, and John Letts, 55, were arrested earlier this month on suspicion of sending money to their son Jack, 20, who is under investigation by counter-terrorism police on suspicion of traveling from Oxford to Syria.

New defibrillators to help save lives

TWO villages near Wantage are set to become a lot safer when lifesaving defibrillators are installed later this year.

East Challow and West Hen-

By Alex Ballinger

dred are to get the devices after £8,000 was donated to Oxfordshire by Southern Electric Power Distribution.

The defibrillators are part of a UK wide push to make people no further than 10 minutes away from one at any time.

East Challow Parish Council clerk, Julia Evans, applied for the 'resilient communities fund' to get the machines.

She said: "We have been campaigning and fundraising to install a defibrillator in a disused phone box opposite our village hall for a while, so this donation is extremely welcome."

"I'd like to thank Southern Electric Power Distribution for the kind donation, which will enable us to buy and install vital lifesaving equipment in a key location in the village."

The council now has to apply to Vale of White Horse District Council to install the defibrillator in a telephone box in the centre of the village because it is listed.

Buying and installing the defibrillators costs around £2,000 each and the machines are used to treat life threatening heart problems by delivering an electric shock.

Division commander for South Central Ambulance Service, Dick Tracey, who has been leading the defibrillator campaign, said: "It is fantastic news that South Electric Power Distribution is supporting the public access defibrillator campaign."

"Sudden Cardiac Arrest (SCA) remains the UK's single biggest cause of death."

"The automatic external defibrillators (AEDs) that have been donated will undoubtedly help the survival of someone who has suffered SCA."

"Thank you to everyone who has helped to get these three AEDs into the community."

Ms Evans said the West Hendred defibrillator is likely to be installed within three months at West Hendred Village Hall in Ginge Road. East Challow's is to be in place within six months.

The £8,000 will also pay for Lewknor village, near Watlington, to have a device.

Man dies after Woodstock van collision

A MAN has died after being involved in a collision with lorry yesterday morning in Woodstock while walking.

The incident happened just before 11am on the A44 while the truck was driving towards Woodstock.

The pedestrian died at the scene.

Police said his next of kin have been informed.

"If you have any information about the incident please call the 24-hour Thames Valley Police enquiry centre on 101."

The A44 was closed at the junction with the B4437 after the incident.

Anyone who does not want to speak directly to the police can contact the independent charity Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

No personal details are taken, information is not traced or recorded and callers will not need to appear in court.

Support charity aims to get people talking about abuse

A CHARITY that supports male and female victims of abuse wants to get people talking about the issue to raise awareness.

Clean Slate is the only charity in Oxfordshire that supports male and female victims of physical, sexual, emotional and mental abuse.

Based in Upper Heyford, near Bicester, it is used by people from across the county including Oxford, Witney and Abingdon.

It offers one-to-one counselling, group therapy, workshops and training courses. Recently it has run educational courses for professionals such as police officers and social workers.

Nadia Brown, Clean Slate's project manager, said the workshops helped guide professionals how to deal "positively" with people who have been abused.

She said: "We have had men who turned up at a police station to report domestic abuse and have been laughed at.

"It's really about raising awareness and recognising the effects. We want to promote the courses and get as many professionals onto them as possible so when they are at the front line they can deal with people in a much more positive way.

"People know abuse is happening but they don't talk about it. We want people to know we are here - we are the only service in Oxfordshire that works with men."

A volunteer at Clean Slate, who did not want to be named but who was a victim of sexual abuse as a child, said the charity helped him "turn his life around".

He said he was referred to Clean Slate after a failed suicide bid and thanks to its support has got his life back on track.

He said: "It's completely changed my life and turned it around on its head. I haven't got this secret, I haven't got anything to hide. I feel like I have been released."

Every year the charity has to find £67,000 to run the service. This year it received cash from the Thames Valley Police and Crime Commissioner, charities, trusts and parish councils.

To raise cash Clean Slate has organised a Charity Bike Ride around Cherwell on April 24, and a golf day at Kirtlington Golf Club, on August 5.

Missing puppy reunited with owner

A PUPPY that went missing from a Bicester pub has been returned to his owner after a two-day search.

Jager is a male cross between a poodle and a Pekinese, and looks a lot like a Shih Tzu.

He went missing from The Saxon Pub in Sheep Street at around 1am last Tuesday.

His owner Carly Janman took to Facebook in a desperate plea to find him, and Cherwell District Council helped raise awareness of the search.

A Facebook page was set up to help find the small dog, and Jager was reunited with his owner last Thursday evening.

A post on Cherwell District Council's Facebook page said: "We are waking up to some fantastic news this morning. Overnight missing Jager has been reunited with his owner!"

"After escaping in the centre of Bicester in the early hours of Tuesday, Jager was found wandering the streets by a passerby who has been caring for him while trying to trace his owner."

"Last night Jager and his owner were reunited and he is booked in for a microchip"

From April 1 this year a new law comes into force requiring all dogs to be microchipped.

Homes refused

BICESTER: Councillors have refused plans to build homes at the site of a former industrial building in Bicester.

Vanderbilt Homes wanted to demolish the former Lear Corporation building, in Bessemer Close, off Launton Road, and replace it with 70 homes.

Councillors agreed the development would provide a "poor living environment" for residents as the site is located by neighbouring industrial units, a railway line and a main road.

Cllr Michael Gibbard, Cherwell District Council's planning chief, said the development would lack integration with existing residential areas.

Police appeal for Ford car owner

BICESTER: Police are trying to trace the owner of a Ford car after a teenager was arrested on suspicion of trying to steal it.

Officers believe the owner may have lost their keys while at Bicester Village on February 13.

Police say a man was spotted "acting suspiciously" in the car park of the designer outlet trying to locate a vehicle with a key fob.

The 17-year-old was arrested on suspicion of going equipped to steal a motor vehicle and has been bailed until February 25.

Widow's knife safety drive after stabbing

THE wife of an Oxford man stabbed to death in Abingdon has launched a campaign calling for stricter laws on shops selling knives.

By Alex Ballinger

signatures since it was set up last Tuesday and is backed by Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood.

Gulsen Alkan launched an online petition after her 61-year-old husband Justin Skrebowski was brutally stabbed while shopping in Poundland last December.

The petition, directed at the Home Secretary Theresa May, has gathered more than 11,000

In the petition Ms Alkan said: "December 7 is my birthday. It's also the day that my husband was killed."

"Police told me that Justin had no chance that day, it all happened so quickly he didn't even see the attacker's face."

"It's hard to believe it was that easy to pick up a knife. That's why I've started this petition to urge retailers to review how knives are displayed."

She added that Mr Skrebowski went to the bargain store in Bury Street to buy balloons for their small children when the attack happened.

Trevor Joyce, of Franklyn Close, Abingdon, appeared at Oxford Crown Court on December 11 charged with murder.

The 36-year-old is due to enter a plea at the same court on March 7 and a trial, if needed, is earmarked to start on June 6 and last for five days.

"It breaks my heart that I wasn't there for my husband when he died"

Ms Blackwood tweeted last Thursday saying: "Justin's killer just picked a knife off the shop shelves. His widow Gulsen, with my support, is calling for change."

She also included a link to the petition on campaign website change.org, www.change.org/p/rt-hon-theresa-may-mp-sell-knives-safely-keep-knives-out-of-reach-in-shops

Witnesses described how the attacker grabbed knives from the shop shelf.

An inquest opening into the death heard Mr Skrebowski was stabbed in the back.

The petition calls for knives to be kept in shops in locked cases behind counters.

Ms Alkan added: "It breaks my heart that I wasn't there for my husband when he was killed. 'I want to do something now.'"

Firefighters to blaze a trail in charity bike ride

OXFORDSHIRE'S firefighters will put down the hose and pick up the bike in a new adventure to raise £100,000 for charity.

The team of 16 cyclists will depart on the 1,000 mile ride on May 13 from John O'Groats in the north eastern corner of Scotland, making their way through the country and finishing at Land's End in Cornwall two weeks later.

Leading the peloton will be chief fire officer Dave Etheridge, who said: "The target of £100,000 is the largest sum we have ever tried to raise in a single event and we are hoping everyone will get behind us."

"We have three aims which are to promote health and wellbeing, to raise a fantastic £100,000 for The Fire Fighters Charity and obviously, to make it to Land's End safe and sound."

The 14-day journey will see them travel about 80 miles a day and visiting nine fire and rescue services including Oxfordshire.

A support team of four will also set off on the journey.

Money raised will go to The Fire Fighters Charity, which supports retired and serving fire men and women in need.

The ride is backed by Oxford Brookes University and Oxfordshire Public Health.

Police child abuse team to grow to cope with increase

OXFORDSHIRE'S police force has pledged to add 28 jobs to its child abuse investigation team, after a report highlighted officers could not cope with the rise in cases.

Police watchdog Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) rated Thames Valley Police (TPV) 'good' across the board last Thursday, but said its child abuse investigation team could not handle an upsurge in workload.

It said: "The capacity in the child abuse investigation has not kept pace with the increasing workload it has faced."

"This means that the force may not be able to continue to provide the quality of service it aspires to for this very vulnerable group of victims."

"The force has made a good start in ensuring it is well prepared to tackle child sexual exploitation and must now build on this."

TPV recorded 1,815 sex offences against children between April 2014 and March 2015.

And a serious case review published last year into Operation Bullfinch, a police investigation which saw seven men jailed for child sex offences in

By Loughlan Campbell

2013, found about 373 children in Oxfordshire were sexually exploited over the last 16 years.

TPV spokesperson Connie Primmer said: "At the recent police and crime panel budget meeting, a precept increase was agreed along with planning savings which will help to fund 28 additional posts for the child abuse investigation unit."

In overall crime the HMIC report found the force recorded a fall of 31 per cent in crime compared with 2010.

The report said: "Thames Valley Police is good at keeping people safe and reducing crime."

"The force has low crime levels and continues to reduce crime and anti-social behaviour."

Chief Constable Francis Habgood said: "This report focuses on the most important responsibilities for a police force and therefore it is particularly gratifying to see that we are doing well."

Inspector Zoe Billingham added: "I particularly commend the force for its focus on preventing crime and anti-social behaviour from happening in the first place."

Animal rescue charity overloaded with pets

A PET charity is so overrun with small animals that it is having to house them in its offices.

Oxfordshire rehoming centre Blue Cross, near Burford, is struggling to care for more than 100 small pets including rabbits, rats and hamsters.

Staff have appealed for help from residents to take them off their hands.

Centre manager Jenna Martyn said: "We've never had such a huge number needing our help at any one time.

"There are so many that we've had to house rabbits and rats in our offices to accommodate them all. We're absolutely desperate for loving new homes for them."

Blue Cross, in Shilton Road, has 51 rats, 21 rabbits, 20 degus, and 10 guinea pigs, as well as hamsters and gerbils.

Seven-month old bunnies

Bowie and Ziggy, who were discovered in a skip in London, are among the pets rescued.

The centre is part-way through a revamp project to double the number of pets it can look after.

Jenna added: "It's really busy here and although we are currently building on the site, we are still open to helping pets."

Four arrested after spate of armed robberies

FOUR men have been arrested after a series of armed robberies across Oxfordshire in which shop staff were threatened with a screwdriver and spanner.

A robber wielding a large spanner demanded staff to open a till at a pub in Thame's London Road before making off with the money on February 7 at about 8.40pm.

No one was injured in the incident.

The next day two men walked into a newsagent in Didcot's Brasenose Road.

One man threatened a member of staff with a screwdriver and pulled them by the arm which re-hurt an existing injury. The robbers made off with cigarettes and cash in a stolen white Ford Transit van which was abandoned and recovered by police that day.

Police are also linking these offences with an attempted armed robbery in London Road, Postcombe, near Thame on January 26.

A 31-year-old man from Didcot was arrested and bailed until March 18, a 30-year-old man from Didcot was arrested and bailed until March 6, a 30-year-old man of no fixed abode was arrested and bailed until March 17, and a 27-year-old man from Didcot was arrested and bailed until March 17.

Oxford University club is embroiled in racism row

THE head of an Oxford University club has resigned due to allegations of 'poisonous' attitudes of racism within the group against Jews.

Co-chairman of the Oxford University Labour Club, Alex Chalmers, stepped down from his post after members voted in favour of supporting Israel Apartheid Week last Monday.

The alleged anti-Semitism scandal reportedly triggered former Labour Party leader Ed Miliband, who has Jewish heritage, to postpone a visit the club next month.

Mr Chalmers posted on Face-

By Alex Ballinger

book: "The attitudes of certain members of the club towards certain disadvantaged groups was becoming poisonous."

The post added: "It is with the greatest regret that I have decided to resign as co-chair of the Oxford University Labour Club."

"This comes in the light of OULC's decision at this evening's general meeting to endorse Israel Apartheid Week."

Mr Chalmers said senior members of the club used the derogatory term 'Zio' to refer to Jewish people and expressed solidarity with the Islamic group Hamas.

However a statement from the club said it is 'horrified' at anti-Semitic behaviour.

Mr Chalmers' decision to resign was backed by Oxford University Jewish Society.

A statement from the society said: "We are grateful that Alex Chalmers has made the statement that he did and has brought the issue of anti-Semitism to the fore in a way that Jewish students have so far been denied."

"We hope Alex's resignation triggers a broader awakening amongst student political movements, and that anti-Semitism, particularly on the student left, is finally taken seriously."

The national Labour Students group confirmed they had launched an investigation into the allegations of racist behaviour in the club last Tuesday.

A statement by Labour Students said: "Following the allegations of anti-Semitic behaviour Oxford University Labour Club, Labour Students have launched an immediate investigation."

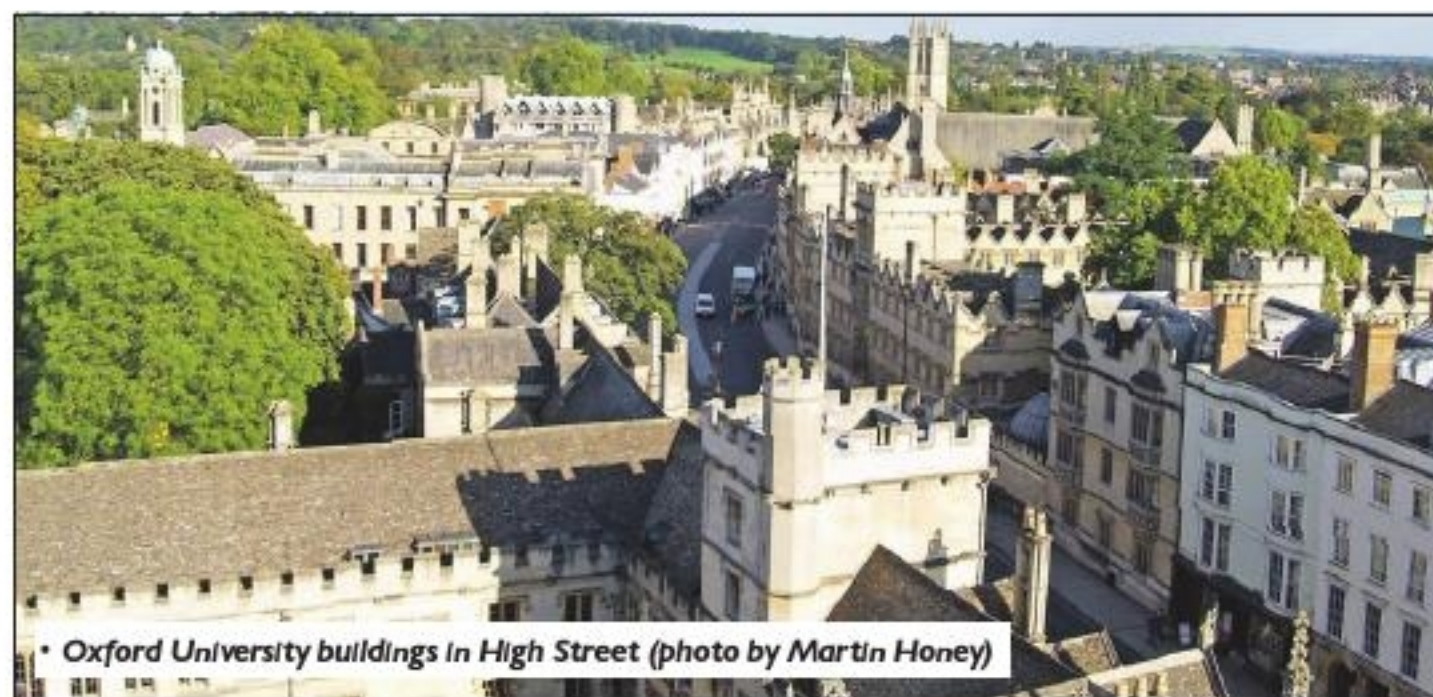

The inquiry has been backed by the Labour Party's head office.

Party spokesperson Paul Ovenden said: "The Labour Party condemns anti-Semitism in any form."

"Labour Students have launched an immediate investigation and the Labour Party welcomes and supports this action."

A statement from the Oxford University Labour Club said: "We are horrified at and wholeheartedly condemn anti-Semitic behaviour in all its forms."

"Labour Students is launching an investigation; we will fully co-operate with this and encourage any of our members to come forward with any information that will assist with this process."

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

A decade of Dancin' Oxford

GET your dancing shoes on for the 10th birthday of one of Oxford's biggest dance festivals.

Dancin' Oxford starts tomorrow, February 26, and runs until Monday, March 7.

Theatres and arts centres across Oxford will be hosting workshops and performances showcasing dance from hip-hop to Bollywood, street to salsa.

By James Richings

And with the festival celebrating its 10th anniversary this year, festival director Claire Thompson said it has been fulfilling to watch it flourish.

"I am very proud of this," she told the Guardian.

"I had no idea back in 2007 how successful it would be, but it has been fantastic and a real privilege to see it grow and develop over the years.

"We are very proud that Dancin' Oxford really does offer something for everyone.

"For example, within the participatory programme we have the hugely popular 'Baby Boogie' for under fives and their families and then 'Movers 'n' Shakers' for the over-60s, with a huge amount in between.

"We also encourage people of all generations to take part and dance or watch together. Dance crosses all barriers."

The Oxford Playhouse, Old Fire Station, Oxford Town Hall, The North Wall Arts Centre and Pegasus Theatre are among about eight venues holding dancing workshops over the next 10 days.

Hundreds of people attended the various events last year, and Claire said this year could be the largest Dancin' Oxford they have hosted.

The arts officer for dance and theatre at Oxford City Council said: "What satisfies me the most is when I go and see the workshops is all the smiling faces, laughter, energy and the huge feel-good factor that dancing creates."

She added: "Dancing is for life, and a career in it is not easy, but reach for your dreams and never let go of the love of dance."

Dates, times and prices for the workshops vary. See www.dancinxford.co.uk/festival for details.

Rick Chase covers

CHALGROVE-BASED musician Rick Chase will be reliving the glory days of Queen, Bryan Adams and many more when he visits The Cricketers Arms in Cowley on Saturday, February 27.

"Without experiencing live music, young people will just accept any old rubbish they are presented with," Rick told the Guardian.

"By seeing a band or artist live, you then get to find out who can actually perform without the aid of auto tune or pre-recorded vocals to mime to."

He added he never performs his own songs in pubs because most audiences likes to hear songs they know.

The musician from Gainsborough will perform at the pub in Temple Road from 9pm.

The gig is free.

Rob Newman's The Brain Show

By James Richings

THE idea behind Rob Newman's newest sketch was born from his time volunteering for scientists experimenting on the links between love and the brain.

The comedian will bring his audience up to date with some of the latest developments in brain science during the quirky performance at The Mill Arts Centre in Banbury tomorrow night, February 26.

And what's more, he will be wired up for everyone to see what his brain is doing during the show.

"It begins with the story of what happened when I was a volunteer subject in a brain imaging experiment designed to find the neurobiology of romantic love," the 51-year-old explained.

"It then looks at the latest discoveries in brain science and the latest neuro-babble explanations of these discoveries.

"And it also features a MRI hat that has lots of wires attached to it and gives the audience a real-time read out of my mental state during the show."

Rob Newman became a household name in the early 1990s alongside comedy partner David Baddiel.

The duo were the first comedians to perform a sell-out 12,000-seat show at the Wembley Arena in London.

Since then, the Cambridge Selwyn College English graduate has trodden various paths including author and political activist, as well as teacher, house-painter, mail sorter, social worker, mover, and broadcaster.

He said: "In 1987 I was writing sketches for 'NewsRevue' at the Canal Cafe Theatre and at the end of the run, they had a 'smoker' where all the writers could do five minutes of comedy.

"I got away with it, and so I started doing open spots and then half spots on the London comedy circuits in rooms above pubs, and it's the sort of places I still play, although nowadays it is more half spots."

It is back to comedy for his lengthy UK tour which ends next February.

'The Brain Show' at the Spiceball Park venue starts at 8pm and tickets cost £15.

Toast: Butter side up

TOAST'S snapshot of the grim and gritty factory life of Hull's history is not just that. It is funny, heartwarming, and grippingly played out.

The resurrected version of Richard Bean's first professional stage play gives a glimpse of where one of Britain's most famous playwrights started out; as an 18-year-old bread factory labourer toiling away before his student days - some 37 years prior to his record-breaking One Man, Two Guvnors.

Together the story and superb acting weave a rich tapestry of characters struggling to make ends meet.

Blakey (Steve Nicolson), Colin (Will Barton), Cecil (Simon Greenall), Nellie (Matthew Kelly), Peter (Matt Sutton), Dezzie (Kieran Knowles) and Lance (John Wark) all forge out their personalities during the smokes and half-hours of staff room breaks.

REVIEW: ★★★★★

By Katrina Ormiston

The two-hour play is all staged in the dusty dank room in which flour settles like a skin on surfaces while used tea bags build up in the corner, the remnants of a failed basketball game. And throughout, the monotonous rumble of the bread oven reminds everyone that work never halts.

Until it does. And the bakers risk life and limb to save the jobs they love - hate.

As the student temp, Lance adds an extra dimension to the play which forces the audience to question what they are watching; has Bean thrown an other-worldly spirit character into the mix, or pure madman? The awkward and troubled character is convincing. But it's Matthew Kelly who steals the show as sluggish but skilful mixer, Nellie.

He's slogged through decades of hard graft without complaint and is curiously content with the hand - and cigarette quota - he is dealt.

The mottled mix of characters each offers an interesting insight into humanity, all with the message that humour can conquer all, even - or especially - if it is a bit bawdy.

WIN a Champagne breakfast for 4 at The Fox Inn!

The legendary Fox Inn at Great Barrington is a delightful place at any time but as the beginning of a great day out... well it is hard to imagine a better way to start the occasion.

In conjunction with the Fox Inn, we have a fantastic prize of a champagne breakfast for four and to make it even better it is for the week of the Cheltenham Festival (March 15th to March 18th).

The Fox Inn is the creation of Paul Porter who had spent 15 years developing his dream of what a perfect country pub should be and two years further on down the line it seems that his idea was pretty much spot on.

Go anywhere in the world and you'll find a Cotswold stone building with its exposed beams is pretty much the definition of the English classic pub and the Fox Inn fits the description perfectly.

Perched on the banks of the River Windrush and with seven refurbished rooms it is the perfect base to start exploring the Cotswolds. The menu covers all the classic pub favourites with enough variations to make it truly stand out from the crowd.

For more details on the Fox Inn visit: <http://www.foxinnbarrington.com/>

How to enter

Our prize of a champagne breakfast for four is a rather special treat that any of you friends would be delighted to join you in, and to be in with a chance of winning all you have to do is answer this simple question:

Q: On the banks of which river is the Fox Inn sited?

A ride in the Citroen C4 Cactus

• The Citroen DS5 Prestige Blue HDi 150

THE C4 Cactus is one of those cars you either like or hate – but which I happen to like a lot actually. The reason for this is simple – the Cactus has a simple design and smart functionality.

It comes in a series of petrol engines and one diesel engine. All the petrol engines produce good fuel economy and power.

The PureTech 110 petrol engine offers good performance and economy with a 0-62mph time of just over 9.0 seconds whilst also returning a combined 65.7mpg. The 82bhp and 75bhp versions both offer a similar 0-62 time of 12.9 and returning a combined 61.4mpg up to 65.7.

For some the ride could be conceived as being quite 'bouncy', but in a fun sort of way.

The Cactus also holds the road really well and is a person's comfort blanket, even when the road ahead gets a little less than expected.

By Anthony Yates

As you would expect from Citroen, the cabin materials are of a decent quality and the interior space is brilliant when you consider the Cactus is not a large car really.

It also has a fair amount of tech on board if you opt for the Flair Blue HDi 100. Some of the options include; a DAB radio, six speakers, LED daytime running lights and a Bluetooth hands free streaming system.

Prices start at around £18,090 for the Flair Blue HDi 100 model with a five-speed manual gearbox – but if you are going to be buying new, buy the top spec model as it will hold its own better when you come to re-sell it later on.

The Cactus was also awarded a four-star rating by Euro NCAP in its industry benchmark safety tests (Citroen C4 CACTUS 1.2 'FEEL' 5 door as tested in 2014), scoring 82 per cent and 79 per cent for adult and child occupant elements respectively.

Bowery bags brace for Oxford in Exeter win

OXFORD UNITED put two back-to-back defeats behind them with a thumping 4-1 win over Exeter City at St James Park on Tuesday night.

Jordan Bowery was the hero for the U's with a brace on the night with Chey Dunkley and Alex MacDonald getting amongst the goals before Alex Nicholls pulled back a late consolation for the Grecians.

United showed their intent from the off and Chris Maguire nearly found the net in the opening 10 minutes with a strong effort that was blocked away by Exeter 'keeper Bobby Olejnik.

MacDonald lofted the resulting corner into the box beautifully for it to be pounded into the net off the head of Dunkley.

Oxford should have doubled the lead through Callum O'Dowda on 28 minutes after a John Lundstram pass but Olejnik timed his run perfectly to gather the ball.

On 41 minutes it was two for the U's after Lundstram sent a ball out to Bowery who powered past the Grecian defence and slipped a shot past the Exeter 'keeper.

A Maguire free kick was inches

By Loughlan Campbell

behind just before the half-time whistle and shortly after the restart it was three for Oxford as Maguire sent in a looping cross and Bowery beat his man to nod in his second of the night.

Three minutes later it was four for the U's as Maguire once again provided a low cross from the corner flag into MacDonald to turn in to the net off his head with Appleton's men sailing.

Exeter grabbed their goal with thirteen minutes left to play as Nicholls bought himself some space on the edge of the box and curled in a fine shot past U's 'keeper Benji Buchel into the net.

New U's signing George Waring came on with ten minutes to go and the Stoke City loanee nearly snatched a debut goal with a header off the bar on 82 minutes.

The result keeps United in third in League Two, but Accrington Stanley, who have two games in hand on the U's, remain three points behind.

Greens set for FA Vase replay

KIDLINGTON took Bowers & Pitsea to extra time in a gripping FA Vase quarter final encounter on Saturday.

With the score finishing up 3-3 after 90 minutes, both sides headed into the extra period looking for the winner, but neither net bulged and the sides will get a replay.

Kristian Thomas swept into a lead after three minutes when Anacleet Odhiambo's effort was parried away.

Six minutes later, the Greens fans were cheering after Kidlington extended their lead when Thomas charged down a clearance and the ball ricocheted into the net for 2-0.

Bowers replied through Alfie Hilton on 12 minutes.

Kidlington were then denied a third when the officials believed Tommy Castle's effort didn't cross the line and Bowers levelled things up just after the second half when Lewis Manor curled a fantastic shot into the net.

Manor then fired home in space in the 6-yard box and fired the ball home.

Bowers were then handed an offside goal before Odhiambo scored a thunderbolt into the net to level the scores.

The game entered two periods of extra time but neither could score and now it's all to play for in the replay at Yarn-ton Road this Saturday.

Battling Oxford student grabs gold in national Boxing event

AN OXFORD University boxer has grabbed a gold medal in a national boxing event in Sheffield.

Isra Hale secured the medal at the 2016 BUCS Nationals in Sheffield beating Leeds Beckett's Katherine Sharp in the women's 57-60kg novice final due to a unanimous decision.

Hale had struggled in the opening round due to vision problems caused by her hairnet.

She said following the win: "I had a problem with the hairnet in the first round where it was going into my eyes and that was really frustrating.

"We swapped the headguards around and got it sorted, so I guess it was less for the future as it was unnecessary stress in the fight."

Hale is currently balancing training with studying at Oxford, where she is in her fourth year.

She added: "I was not training properly and I was losing the weight in the wrong way whereas now I am training well and if you are fit and strong you can do well at this level in boxing."

She is currently on an Army bursary for medical school and uses boxing as a way to get fit for her assessments.

"Boxing is really big in all the military. They want the fittest and sharpest people possible and I am working towards making sure I am just that."

City suffer back-to-back defeats as form stutters

OXFORD City's woeful form continued as they fell to their fourth loss in six in a 2-1 defeat at Maidenhead United on Tuesday night.

Jose Lapoujade had grabbed an equaliser for City in the second half after Harry Pritchard thumped Maidenhead in front but Oxford couldn't hold out and Dave Tarpey grabbed the winner for United.

The result means City are yet to win in the Conference South since January 23 when they beat St Albans City and Justin Merritt's side are now eighth in the league five points off the play-off places.

The win was United's first since December with Oxford liable for not being alert at the back.

By Loughlan Campbell

United grabbed the lead after a goalless first half when Pritchard managed to find some space for himself on 50 minutes to then slot home.

Oxford levelled on the hour mark through Lapoujade as the sides went to loggerheads with one another to grab the next goal.

Unfortunately for City it fell to the home side as Jake Reid sliced the ball into the net on 70 minutes ensuring Maidenhead grabbed all three points with the home side now eleventh in the table.

The result was the second time in four days that City had been on the back of a 2-1 scoreline after they were defeated at Hayes & Yeading United.

Bradley Bubb had fired Oxford in front as they headed into the break in front but shortly afterwards they fell foul to an equaliser through Elliot Benyon before a last-minute winner from Ismael Ehui snatched the points for United.

City have felt the punch in recent weeks from their highly competitive league, with Merritt's side once hogging second-place towards the end of last year.

City need to start winning to have any chance of promotion.

Freds hit for four by Yate

WANTAGE TOWN's season continues to remain in the doldrums after they were beaten 4-0 by Yate Town at Alfredian Park on Tuesday.

Darren Edwards gave the Bluebells the lead in the first half through a header from a free-kick before Harry Horton scrambled in an effort on the stroke of half-time.

Wantage rallied but couldn't penetrate the Yate defence and Mike Bryant volleyed home a stunning effort on 58 minutes to put the result beyond the Freds.

Edwards then added a fourth for the visitors on 65 minutes to round out the scoring with the away side maintaining their midtable position whilst Wantage remain hovering above the relegation places.

The result will be crushing for the Freds who had improved their performances in recent weeks and were only narrowly beaten to a 1-0 defeat at North Leigh on Saturday.

Jake Johns should have scored for the Freds in the first half after firing over the crossbar when one-on-one with the 'keeper before Jon Else scored a screamer in the second half to give the Millers the win.

Wantage couldn't find an equaliser but did manage to hold off the Millers with some strong defensive work.

Stuart Cattell's side take on Mangotsfield United on Saturday knowing a win could potentially steer them clear of the relegation spots, with only five points separating them from Bashley.

U's snatch up 'proven goalscorer'

• Les Taylor with Ini Umotong

OXFORD United Women have bolstered their roster with the signing of Nigerian international Ini Umotong.

The former Portsmouth Ladies forward bagged 29 goals for Pompey in 25 games in the 2014/15 season and Umotong then scoring 25 goals last season.

She said after signing yesterday: "I'm extremely excited to be progressing my career with Oxford United."

"I like the vision and style of play at the club, which I think will be very suited to me individually."

Manager Les Taylor heralded

his new signing calling her a 'proven goalscorer'.

He said: "Ini is a striker who possesses both power and pace. We have been very fortunate to recruit such an exciting player like Ini."

"She has been very impressive during training with United and I am sure she will be a handful for opposition defences."

Umotong also has international experience representing Nigeria at the FIFA Women's World Cup Finals in Canada last year.

United secured the signing of Finnish full back Katja Hakala from FC Honka last Friday.

Stanley inflict misery on United

OXFORD UNITED fell to a second successive home defeat at the Kassam Stadium on Saturday after Scott Brown's late winner sealed a 2-1 victory for Accrington Stanley.

The U's were off to a ferocious start, knocking the ball about well and Alex MacDonald just fired a shot wide.

Chris Maguire and Jordan Bowery were linking well together and on 28 minutes, the former whipped in a low cross for Kemar Roofe to stroke the ball past Stanley 'keeper Ross Etheridge to make it 20 goals for the season for the forward.

Bowery should have made it two on 37 minutes after Roofe sent him through but his tame effort was easily saved by Etheridge.

Just 19 seconds into the second half saw Accrington pull level after a dangerous ball from Sean McConville sent in an effort into Billy Kee to make it 1-1.

United were not to be deterred and they sought to grasp the next goal in a series of desperate attacks.

The U's were unfortunate not to make the most of things when centre-half Tom Davies was handed a second yellow but Brown was allowed to drill an effort past Benji Buchel to seal the win for the away side.

Janes and Reid both bag braces as Didcot run riot in Buckinghamshire test

Diddy hit Marlow for five in huge win

DIDCOT Town continued their excellent 2016 form with a second 5-0 win in two games at Marlow on Saturday.

Andy Ballard's swept aside the Buckinghamshire side with ease as forwards George Reid and Mark Janes both grabbed braces in the victory.

With just seven minutes played the Diddy were in front, as Jack Self tapped home the opener to score only his second goal for the Railwaymen.

Diddy keeper Leigh Bedwell was then called in to make some fine saves as Ballard's boys kept the home side out.

As the game headed in to the break it was a very even split as Didcot chased a fifth win in eight games so far this year.

With just a few minutes into

By Loughlan Campbell

the second half the visitors doubled their lead as George Reid stepped up to head home a cross from ex-Wantage Town midfielder Alex Woodhouse.

Marlow pressed Didcot and Bedwell had to be on his guard as the home side came close on a few occasions.

The referee offered them a lifeline with a penalty on 67 minutes, but Marlow's Devontae Romeo smashed his effort at the crossbar before sliding home the rebound but the referee ruled the goal out, saying the forward touching the ball twice.

With ten minutes remaining Didcot were given their own spot-kick when Reid was fouled in the box and Mark Janes fired home to cement the victory.

However there was still time for more goals as the Diddy were then awarded a second penalty three minutes later and Janes stroked home for his sixteenth goal of the season.

George Reid then added gloss to proceedings in the dying minutes as he added a fifth on the day to secure the 5-0 victory making it six goals in eight appearances for the youngster.

Didcot remain in tenth in the Southern League Division One South & West table, level on points with ninth-place Evesham United.

They play title challengers Cinderford Town on Saturday at the Loop Meadow Stadium. Kick-off is at 3pm.

PARTNERSHIP BUILDS ON FURNITURE TRAINING HERITAGE

A new educational partnership is to continue a rich heritage of preparing furniture designers and makers for their future careers.

Activate Learning has partnered with Oxford Brookes University to deliver the Furniture: Design and Make Foundation Degree and BA (Hons).

The programmes have been validated by Oxford Brookes and will be delivered at Activate Learning's City of Oxford College campus in Oxpens Road, home to the Rycotewood Furniture Centre.

Joe Bray, higher education programme co-ordinator at Activate Learning, said: "The Rycotewood name has a rich heritage in furniture design and making. The centre has been training students in the design and craft of fine furniture since the 1930s.

"In recent years this has included university-level programmes which prepare graduates for careers with some of the biggest names in the industry. Students have gone on to work for companies including Benchmark and Halstock cabinet makers, as well as building enviable reputations as bespoke designers and makers.

"Students also achieve success in national competitions on an annual basis. In 2015 these included winners of the Mixology Student Furniture Designer of the Year, New Forest Trust Fine Furniture Competition and Art in Action Student Art and Design Competition.

"This new partnership with Oxford Brookes University will strengthen the programme even further and we look forward to working with colleagues in the faculty of technology, design and environment to equip students with the creative skills demanded by industry."

The move means that all Activate Learning foundation degrees and BA Hons programmes are now delivered in partnership with Oxford Brookes University. These include programmes in business, motorsport engineering, creative arts, health and social care and policing.

Paul Inman, Pro Vice Chancellor of Oxford Brookes University said: "By offering an Oxford Brookes degree through our partner further education colleges, students benefit from career-focused courses, industry-standard facilities and the opportunity to build relationships with potential future employers. Students are also able to access the excellent facilities at Oxford Brookes while studying at college, meaning they will get the best of what both institutions have to offer."

The Furniture: Design and Make Foundation Degree is a full-time two year course. On completion, students can choose to take a further top-up year to achieve the BA (Hons) qualification. The courses are now open for applicants wishing to start in September 2016.
